BRENNAN BEAL

I am a pharmacist turned data scientist excited about bridging the gap between data and people. My favorite projects are cross-functional in nature and revolve around creating efficiencies in the way that data is understood and delivered.

🧰 INDUSTRY EXPERIENCE

Quantitative Scientist

Flatiron Health

📍 New York, NY

Current | 2021

- Leading Syntech in the automation and deployment of a quality assessment pipeline to cut monthly engineering time by 75%
- Collaborating with our clinicians to develop R packages for scaling the speed at which we can deliver data sets to clients
- Conducting research on the use of real-world data (RWD) for ex-US HTA use cases, including collaboration with NICE, UK and thought leadership surrounding the transportability of US-generated real-world evidence
- Researching clinical and socioeconomics barriers to access for Chimeric antigen receptor (CAR) T-cell therapy patients
- Thought leader for target-trial emulation to reduce immortal time bias when conducting observational research

Post–Doctoral Healthcare Economics Research Fellow

AbbVie with the University of Washington

📍 Seattle, WA

2021 | 2019

- Created and began marketing an RShiny app, the Real-World Evidence Assessments and Nee¬ds Guidance (REAdi) Tool, to assist payers in streamlining the process of RWE synthesis and decision-making, which went on to receive $50,000 in funding
- Designed and led a study indicating large US payers spend >$315M on preventable glaucoma costs supporting legacy Allergan's second largest durable growth area prior to the acquisition
- Managed vendors to support an economic value story for AbbVie's $2.3B eye care portfolio

Independent Consultant/Entrepreneur

Chiesi USA, Inc.

📍 Raleigh, NC

2019 | 2018

- Restructured FY 2020 marketing strategy by identifying a $600k profit opportunity within their provider outreach program
- Optimized marketing efforts for an $80M product by demonstrating the synergistic effect of two separate in-house marketing teams, yielding a 300% increase in uptake compared to no marketing
